 - Please email Brad.Pantuck@sba.gov with any potential opportunities.
- COMPASS requirements...

- Business users will be able to conduct general searches by keyword, and guided searches through a topic directory as well as a series of questions and answers as was demonstrated by the COMPASS Profiler
- Search will not be constrained to compliance assistance resources only, results will include links to Federal Forms and other content on Business.gov
- Since studies show Business users don't fully understand the way Federal Government organizes itself or the terms it uses, COMPASS will focus on using terms that are more familiar to small businesses in addition to Government centric terms (e.g. dangerous goods an international term for what DOT calls HAZMAT)

Compliance Guide

Youth and Labor - The Department of Labor is the sole federal agency that monitors child labor and enforces child labor laws. The most sweeping federal law that restricts the employment and abuse of child workers is the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). Child labor provisions under FLSA are designed to protect the educational opportunities of youth and prohibit their employment in jobs that are detrimental to their health and safety. FLSA restricts the hours that youth under 16 years of age can work and lists hazardous occupations too dangerous for young workers to perform. Enforcement of the FLSA's child labor provisions is handled by the Wage and Hour Division of the Department's Employment Standards Administration.
